

Imaging Overview (continued)

Image Source Selection Module

The Image Source Selector function (ISS) receives network image data and sends it to the Final IPS. The ISS also receives scanned image data from the Preliminary IPS. The scanned image data is sent to the Final IPS or the user can choose to send the scanned data out on the Network Interface.

