

High Capacity Feeder Module - Airknife

Airknife

In addition to the three-port fluffing system, an air knife further reduces the possibility of multifeeds. It directs air towards the feed head in the area where the lead edge of the top sheet will be picked up by the feed head acquisition surface. If a second sheet is acquired, it will be corrugated differently, and the air knife will fill the resultant gap with air and separate the sheets.

